

What Other Editors Have To Say

PUBLIC OPINION

Does Congress react quickly to a fighting, aroused public opinion? Here are a few pertinent facts:

Nine Michigan congressmen, seven Republicans and two Democrats, voted against President Roosevelt's half-billion-dollar economy bill. The senate approved the measure after making a few minor alterations; the total cuts from the original program will amount to fifty-million dollars perhaps less. Yet when the amended measure was returned to the house, every last Michigan representative voted for the bill. Why the sudden about-face? Did the changes made by the senators meet the rather ingenious objections of the nine? Decidedly not! The explanation is that the public back home raised a hubbub. It wanted government expenses cut and it intended to have them cut; it spoke out in firm, clear-cut tones. Party lines were strictly disregarded. There was praise expressed for those who voted yes; disgust for those who voted no. The offenders listened, understood and altered their votes accordingly. Even Senator Couzens has failed to rush to his own defense in the usual manner.

Aroused public opinion is more potent than any lobby. It should be brought into use more often.—Hastings Banner.

PLUMBING LUXURY IN TEXAS

Cliff Skinner received the following letter from one of his Texas friends the other day:

"Well, since I sold the little farm in Arkansas, I have prospered. You know we always lived in the one-room shack, but I came to east Texas and bought a farm and pretty soon I leased it to an oil company, and was sure lucky. They hit a big oil field on the place and now I have a big house here in Alto. It has six rooms. There is one room that we do nothing but eat in. There is one that we just sit in; two rooms that we don't do anything but sleep in; one room that we don't do anything but cook in, and there is one that is all white and has a place that you can wash all over, and over in the corner is a place that you can wash your hands and face in, and over in the other corner there is a place you can wash your feet in. When we moved there were two lids on this, but we have taken them off. We are using one of them for a dough board, and we have framed grandpa's picture with the other one."—Abilene, Kansas, Reflector.

JUST FOR FUN

Just for fun, supposing that business were just as bad as it really was, we'll say, last September. And supposing while we were earning just barely enough to buy our daily bread last September and Governor Brucker had called a bank holiday and killed off what little business was left, and then supposing we were just on the edge of welfare assistance and struggling for dear life and President Hoover had shut up the banks again completing the wreck of business. How would you have voted last November? No Republican administration known in the fifty years of its existence would ever have dared pull any such business wreckers as our new administrations have done!—(Continued on last page)

CIRCUIT COURT NEXT WEEK

The spring term of Circuit court will convene at the Court house next Tuesday afternoon. A small calendar awaits Judge Guy E. Smith, consisting of one non-jury civil case and six cases in chancery, five of them having been continued from the January term of court.

Of the chancery cases there are two divorce, Effie Elberta Burke vs. John W. Burke; Leo E. Morency vs. Evelyn M. Morency; two attachment in alimony cases, Effie Hadstate vs. Ed R. Hadstate, Hazel D. Vallad vs. Albert J. Vallad. The matter of the assignment for the benefit of creditors of Marius Hanson is still on the docket. Grayling-Masonic Temple Association vs. Grayling Opera House Company have entered a bill to quiet title.

RETURN FROM PLEASANT WESTERN TRIP

Mrs. Nels Olson and Mrs. Nikolai Schjotz returned Sunday from an extended trip throughout the west.

The ladies left Grayling the day after Christmas, visiting in nearly every city on the coast. At the time of the quake they were residing in an apartment in Los Angeles. They had just finished dinner and were enjoying a game of cards when the building began to quiver and sway. However, no damage resulted either to the apartment or the occupants.

The ladies were honor guests at a party given by Mrs. Maude Tetu Aberle at her lovely home in Pasadena. Other guests were Mrs. Geo. Langevin and daughter Elizabeth, Mrs. Geo. Tyler (Amanda Crotteau), Mrs. Charles Peterson (Alle Crotteau), Mrs. Wm. Fisher, Mrs. Ervin Hodge, Mrs. Alfred Underhill, Mrs. Lipman Landsberg, Mrs. Rasmus Bay, Mrs. Moginson (Clara Peterson), and Mrs. Jake Letzkus.

Other hostesses at affairs were Mrs. Chas. Peterson, Mrs. Karen Fisher, Mrs. William Fisher, Mrs. Hodge, Mrs. Bay, Mrs. Underhill, Mrs. Olsen, Mrs. Moginson, Mrs. Tyler, and Mrs. Letzkus.

Enroute back to Michigan they visited in Stockton, San Francisco, Portland, Ore., and Seattle, Wash. Here they were guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. Arnbjornsen. At Yakima they visited Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McPeak and family. At Milwaukee, Wis., they spent the day with Mrs. Hyman Joseph and daughters, Miss Margaret and Mrs. Harry Friedman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold McNeven met the ladies in Saginaw, returning to Grayling Sunday afternoon.

Democrat Party Cleans Slate

SWEEP INTO STATE OFFICES Repeal Wins Nearly 7 to 1

IMPORTANT GRAYLING TWP. OFFICES GO TO DEMOCRATS

A housecleaning by the Democratic party such as has never before been done in the history of Michigan buried the Republican candidates for state offices beneath an avalanche of Democratic votes. Grover C. Dillman, Republican candidate for re-election as State highway commissioner led his party but early returns indicate his defeat by nearly one hundred thousand majority by Murray D. VanWagoner, Democrat, of Pontiac.

Christenson Elected Supervisor. Grayling township took up the large Democratic vote and carried to success all candidates for the principal offices.

Carl Hanson, for Highway commissioner; Emil Niederer, for overseer of highways district No. 1, and Henry Bradley for constable were the only Republicans elected to office in Grayling township.

A three-cornered fight between J. E. Bobenmoyer, Republican; William Christenson, Democrat, and Tony Nelson, Democrat running on slips, resulted in the election of Christenson by a majority of 53. Nelson was next with 305 votes and Bobenmoyer with 95.

Three New Supervisors.

There will be three new supervisors on the county board this spring. The election of William Christenson, Grayling, means the retirement of Tony Nelson who has served in that capacity for the past year when he succeeded Frank Barnett, and also served several terms in former years. Edgar Caid, Lovells, running on slips defeated J. E. Kellogg who served as supervisor of that township for nearly a quarter century. Lyle Duncleky, candidate on the Peoples party ticket in Frederic, retired Ray Murphy, a Citizens party candidate, who was supervisor for the past year when he succeeded Jay O'Dell.

Supervisors who weathered the storm and were re-elected were Sydney A. Dyer, supervisor of South Branch township by defeating Oliver B. Scott, the Republican candidate 74 to 36. Dyer was a candidate on the Union ticket. Frank Love was the choice of the voters of Beaver Creek township, defeating George Annis, Republican. Rufus Edmunds of Maple Forest was unopposed and, of course, re-elected.

The election of delegates to the state convention in favor of the repeal of the 18th amendment was overwhelming. In Crawford county every township turned in large majorities in favor of the wet delegate and the total for the county was 974 in favor and 203 against the repeal. Michigan is the first state in the union to vote on this question and will be listed among the solid wet states.

Tabulated reports of the voting on the candidates for state offices, as voted in the respective townships of Crawford county; the vote on repeal and the vote for Grayling township candidates appear in this issue of the Avalanche.

THE PROPOSED MILK ORDINANCE

I feel that there has been quite a misunderstanding about the proposed milk ordinance, in the last few days. I have personally had the privilege of talking to a few who were very antagonistic about it at first, but, upon learning the true meaning of the ordinance, had a very different attitude. In order to give you an idea of the protection which we were working for, let's look at copies of four ordinances, now in effect in other townships, furnished me by the Bureau of Dairying, State Department of Agriculture, Lansing, Mich.

Port Huron

The sale in the city of milk pasteurized in a plant located more than 20 miles from the city limits is prohibited.

Marquette

The ordinance requires milk plants to be located within 10 miles of the city hall.

Marine City

The ordinance contains a section prohibiting the sale, in the city, of pasteurized milk which is pasteurized in a plant located more than 4 miles from the city limits.

Gaylord

A milk ordinance passed at Gaylord prohibits the sale of milk in

AUSABLE RIVER HISTORY CONTEST

CASH PRIZES OFFERED. CONTEST CLOSES APRIL 30.

If you are one of those writing on the Ausable river history contest, may we remind you that all essays must be on file in this office by April 30.

Cash prizes are offered and someone is sure to win one.

First prize, $5.00 in cash.

Second prize, $2.50 in cash.

Third and fourth prizes, yearly subscriptions to the Avalanche.

Get busy, if you know of any incidents relating to this famous river, and have your stories ready on time. The big important feature that will be considered is the matter of actual history. Tales of incidents that have occurred anywhere along this 300 mile stream; folk who have entered into life on the Ausable; legends, myths, and stories all offer good materials for this story. Talk with some of our older citizens; consult stories that have already been published and re-write them in your own way.

This contest is not in any manner to be a contest in English, or rhetoric or grammar, but instead historical information is what is desired. This information may later be revised and prepared for publication in book form by Dr. R. G. Adams, curator of the William Clements library of the University of Michigan. Anyone desiring further information are requested to confer with the Avalanche office, personally or by mail.

MARRIAGE AND DIVORCE FOR MICH.

The Bureau of the Census announces that, according to the returns received, there were 28,552 marriages performed in Michigan during the year 1932, as compared with 28,856 in 1931, representing a decrease of 304 or 1.1 per cent. In 1922, there were 43,561 marriages performed.

During the year 1932 there were 7,827 divorces granted in the state, as compared with 9,425 in 1931, representing a decrease of 1,598 or 17.0 per cent. In 1922, there were 7,570 divorces granted. There were 60 marriages annulled in 1932, as compared with 76 in 1931.

The estimated population of the state of Michigan on July 1, 1932, was 4,983,000, and on July 1, 1931, 4,931,000. On the basis of these estimates, the number of marriages per 1,000 of the population was 5.7 in 1932, as against 5.9 in 1931; and the number of divorces per 1,000 of the population was 1.57 in 1932, as against 1.91 in 1931.

The number of marriages performed and the number of divorces and annulments granted were furnished by the State Department of Health. The figures for 1932 are preliminary and subject to correction.

Crawford county had 27 marriages in 1932 and 34 in 1931. There were 6 divorces in 1932, and 3 in 1931. No annulments.

The city other than pasteurized, certified and grade A.

Grayling's Proposed Ordinance.

The Village of Grayling ordains that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to sell, deliver or distribute pasteurized milk within the village limits of the Village of Grayling unless said milk has been pasteurized within Crawford County, Mich.

The ordinance was proposed so that the Grayling Dairy and Crawford County farmers would be protected as there is plenty of milk available in Crawford county. As long as the Council did not feel that they could pass it, we will be good losers.

The Village of Grayling has a very fine Common Council, and we appreciate that they are doing what they believe is right.

Amos W. Hunter.

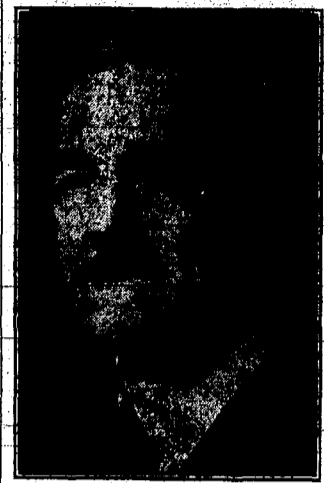

The milk dealers in Crawford County, in asking for an ordinance as explained in this issue of the Avalanche, were not asking anything unreasonable. Their arguments were perfectly fair and square.

However, we feel that the decision which the Council has rendered will be for the good of the community in the end.

C. J. McNamara, Village President.

"HOT PEPPER" AT RIALTO SUNDAY AND MONDAY

As if touched by magic, one of the largest stages at the Beverly Hills studio of Fox Films was transformed into a public square of Paris in the Montmartre district.

It is not a replica of any particular spot in the French city, but a colorful, elaborate and fantastic interpretation of one of the sections of Paris in which its effervescent spirit is reflected by beautiful dancing girls and music.

It is in this environment that much of the action of the Fox comedy, "Hot Pepper," takes place and in which the ancient enemies, Flagg and Quirt, portrayed by Edmund Lowe and Victor McLaglen, fight for the affections of "Pepper," enacted by Lupe Velez, the flaming meteor of the screen. El Brendel is said to play the best comedy role of his career. The setting required weeks to build.

Flagg and Quirt are out of their Marine uniforms in this picture, but still play the characters originated by Laurence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson. In their new environment they are owners of rival cafes where a number of beautiful girls appear in exotic dances and where Miss Velez is seen in a novel dance number with a chorus of "can can" girls in the background.

Dudley Nichols wrote the new story that demands immaculate evening dress and silk toppers for McLaglen and Lowe. Additional dialogue was written by Barry Connors and Philip Klein and the picture was directed by John G. Blystone, dean of Fox Films directors.

"Hot Pepper" which comes to the Rialto Theatre on Sunday and Monday, April 9 and 10, is a rollicking comedy with beautiful girls and catchy music. In addition to the featured players, the cast includes Lillian Bond, Bothe Howard and Gloria Roy.

THOSE WHO LOSE

The railroads are among the largest contributors to our national well being. The taxes they pay goes to the support of our educational systems. They employ thousands of workers at good wages, are liberal patrons of the coal mines for fuel, and in countless other ways furnish a ready market for the products of the manufacturer and producer. To subject the railroads to unfair competition by the buses is an economic mistake that brings injury to every citizen.

SCHOOL NOTES

"Would You Believe It"—the annual Senior play will be presented to the public in a short time.

The production "Would You Believe It" represents a very clever play for amateur dramatic efforts. Full of sparkling repartees it is guaranteed entertainment and is sure to draw. The Seniors of this year scored a heavy triumph last year in "Alibi Bill" and have no intention of falling short of that standard. In addition they have the mark registered by this year's Junior Class to aim for. The caste promises well for a successful play, and with the direction of Miss Norine Berry for the production, the Seniors have every reason to be confident.

The Seniors who comprise the cast are as follows: Gail Welsh, Norma Pray, Nadine McNeven, Wilma Burrows, Anne Brady, Veronica Lovely, Jack LaGrow, Kenneth Gothro, Wesley Sammons, Billy LaGrow, and Milford Parker.

The last hour Friday afternoon before spring vacation was devoted to a program provided by the "Grayling High Literary Guild." The "Guild" put on a snappy entertaining debate on a subject of much interest.

Resolved: "That the fifteen mills tax on real estate must be supplemented for state, county, city, village, and school districts."

The affirmative was upheld by Veronica Lovely, Clayton McDonnell, and Norma Pray, who were opposed by DeAlton Griffith, Helma Corsaut, and Robert Funk on the negative.

Judges were appointed from the three upper grades by Student President Kenneth Gothro. They rendered a unanimous decision in favor of the affirmative, but it was agreed that both sides presented excellent arguments.

Mrs. Allen Selley of Lovells, who is a patient in Mercy Hospital is improving nicely.

The new elevator is expected to be in operation by the first part of next week. The shaft is all completed, the elevator installed, and the power under way, but there are a few incidents to be seen to yet.

Celotex

"A good material that saved me money"

"That's what CELOTEX did, and here is how I figured it. First, I used CELOTEX for sheathing and got stronger insulated walls. This cost me less money than wood sheathing and building paper. Second, CELOTEX was used in place of lath, and the plaster bonds more securely on CELOTEX. It cost a trifle more, but I have paid dearly in the past for plaster patches and with CELOTEX I got a stronger sound deadened wall that will be free from lath marks." "I was able to put in a smaller heating plant and less radiation because I used CELOTEX—so, you see, I saved three ways."

The story of what CELOTEX can do for you is merely suggested in this business man's remarks. Get the rest of it from us.

NOW that the nation will have beer, and repeal of the 18th amendment seems probable, there is a question as to how the people will use it. Will liquor be consumed in moderation or will it be abused? Will it be used with such moderation that its sale and use will not arouse disgust? Will it be handled in a business way or will liquor be handled by hoodlums and gangsters? Will those engaged in liquor traffic attempt to control politics and muscle in on government matters? Such questions cannot help but come up at such a time as this, especially with those acquainted with the old saloon days. The country is going wet, wet, wet, and will probably remain wet unless the public would rather stop over than to enjoy its sips in moderation, and unless those in control of liquor again become parasites upon the public that was typical among saloon keepers and bartenders in the vice districts of our larger cities. Like giving a young boy a sharp knife, we teach him how to use it properly but if he cuts himself, it has to be taken from him. If liquor ever again becomes prohibitive, we may be sure that it is going to be harder to repeal its laws again. It's up to us to use liquor sensibly, or some day again lose it.

THE BILL for the relief of the unemployed calls for a service of a year at something like soldier's pay, with the assurance that enlistment in the workers' army may be about as hard to shake off as enlistment in any other army; and compulsory service of that kind is galling to some. Then, too, the funds for the enterprise are to come from unexpended cash already dedicated to other public construction, but not bound to be spent in that way. The inquiry that is raised is: What is to become of the ordinary public works, if the money for carrying them on is diverted to another channel? Finally, labor organizations fear a lowering of the wage standard by a system calling for enlisted toil at a dollar a day.

MARCH occupies a prominent place in history. In that month Presidents Madison, Jackson, Tyler, and Cleveland were born, and Presidents Fillmore, Benjamin Harrison and Taft died. It claims the Boston Massacre in Revolution, the opening of the first United States Congress, the departure of the first steamboat to cross the Atlantic, the battles of the Monitor and the Merrimack, the abdication of the Czar of Russia, and so on, through a long list. March 1933 made some history also. It was full of what the young folk call "thrills." Older persons apply a harsher name to them.

PLAN FOR NEEDY OF STATE

GOVERNOR TAKES ONLY WAY OUT IN ORDER TO GET FEDERAL MONEY

(By Elton R. Eaton)

Lansing, Mich.—The destitute of Michigan are not going to go hungry, not if there is anything that Governor Comstock and his administration can do about it. Faced immediately after the clearing away of the banking legislation by the ultimatum of the Reconstruction Finance Committee that no more funds would be available to feed Michigan's hungry unless the state provided money from some source to help out the situation, Governor Comstock and Senator Leon Case, Watervliet newspaper publisher who is the administration's leader in the senate, have presented to the legislature a bill that will divert to welfare purposes several millions from the automobile weight tax.

Money from this tax, as well as from the gas tax, is about all that the state is receiving at the present time. Much against their judgment and dislike to divert the weight tax money, both Governor Comstock and Senator Case thought it best to take this action in order to be sure to get the federal aid that is absolutely essential to Michigan.

Senator Case and other legislative leaders fully realize the growing seriousness of the welfare problem in Michigan. The governor let it be known that he did not like the drastic word sent him by Washington, but there was no other course for him to follow but comply and that is the reason Senator Case, Senator Francis Kulp of Battle Creek and others are so anxious to have it enacted quickly.

Road men and Louis Webber, of Fremont, lobbyist for real estate dealers, are providing about the only opposition to this plan to secure money to feed Michigan's hungry men, women and children.

Former Senator B. G. Davis of the Van Buren-Allegan district, has asked the state legislature to petition the national congress for the issuance of what he terms "baby bonds." The former senator declares that U. S. bonds issued in small denominations will do more than anything else to bring the country out of the dumps it is now in. It will be recalled that it was this former senator who back in the days of Governor Sleeper strenuously opposed the issuance of the $50,000,000 bond issue for good roads. He urged the state at that time to create a sinking fund by the collection of a mill tax specially for roads, and then spend it as it was needed. He pointed out that the interest charges alone on the bond issue would almost take care of needed road construction at that time. That was back in the days before a gas tax. Time has proven much that Senator Davis said was true. The money that had been set aside to pay off the road bonds has in the past few years been diverted to other purposes and the taxpayers are still paying a fixed charge of something like two million and a half per year as interest on the road bonds issued during the Sleeper administration.

Beer—From the way some members of the house talk one would gain the idea that that is the most important and only subject worthy of legislative consideration. Their demand is about to be satisfied as Governor Comstock's carefully prepared legislation on this subject is now before the legislature. Doubtless many of its provisions will be amended, but prospects are that before April is ended, Michigan will have legalized beer.

Governor Comstock has just let it be known in a sort of definite way just how far he proposes to go in reducing the operating costs of the state government. With the introduction by Senator Leon Case of Watervliet and Senator Francis Kulp of Battle Creek, two Democratic leaders in the senate of several administration bills, it is announced that the governor proposes to cut the operating costs of the state of Michigan to down around $12,000,000 per year. This figure is slightly under the amount that was collected during the Groesbeck administration. The governor declares that he is going to make the cut in the various state departments and the institutions and that he proposes to see to it that the proper officials live within their income. While many associated with some of the departments and institutions will bring ruin to the state, others who support the Governor point to the fact that the entire income of the state of Michigan during the administration of Governor Chase Osborn was around the figure fixed by Governor Comstock and the state flourished and did well at that time. The state has now in addition to the $12,000,000 income that the Governor proposes, the income from donations of other sources that did not exist in the days of Osborn. There was no gas tax, weight tax, corporation tax, fishing or hunting licenses to bring in millions and millions of dollars as there is now. Governor Comstock has made it pretty clear that heads will come off if his economy rule is not followed.

Representative Earl McNitt of Cadillac thinks it is about time that the state remove the double taxation on Michigan industries. He has introduced a bill in the house which would repeal, if passed, the corporation tax law of the state. He declares that industry can no longer pay this double burden, and that if factories are to continue to operate in the state his measure should be passed. The corporation tax law was passed back in the days of prosperity when Michigan needed many new buildings at various institutions. Although the buildings were long ago completed, the tax has been continued on from year to year, and diverted to other purposes than that for which it was originally intended.

Loveless couples who desire to get married on the spur of the moment must still go to Indiana or Ohio. The house killed the bill that would have repealed the five day notice of intention that is now required.

The University of Michigan and the Michigan State College are battling against drastic cuts in their appropriations. The bills now in the senate cut half a million dollars from the Michigan State College and considerably over a million dollars from the University. Since the introduction of the bills a number of days ago members of both the house and senate have been flooded with requests not to make such drastic cuts as proposed. But Democratic and Republican leaders declare that these two schools as well as the other state institutions are in for cuts that will really be reflected in the tax bills of property owners.

Reduction from $5 a day to $4 per day for the pay of supervisors while attending meetings of the county boards is provided in a bill that has met with the approval of the senate.

The nineteenth regular meeting was held at the home of Mrs. McNamara on March 27th.

Following the regular business meeting, "Current Topics" were the order of the evening, and included the following:

Articles on bank situation during Andrew Jackson's time as compared with today," by Miss Ingeborg Hanson.

"Remarks concerning Ivar Gruger, 'the Match King,'" given by Mrs. Milnes and Mrs. McNamara.

Article on "Recognition of the Communist Government of Russia," and a paper on "National Defense," by Mrs. Adolph Peterson.

Mrs. R. R. Burns was hostess for the twentieth regular meeting on Monday, April 3rd.

Roll call and business. Further arrangements were made for the Tea to be given on Sunday, April 9th, to which all young women between the ages of (16 and 30) are invited. Miss Frances Garvey of Alpena will talk, and there will also be a musical program. This affair will be held in the parlors of the Michelson-Memorial church at 2:00 o'clock P. M.

A spelling lesson was on the evening's program, words having been taken from the books read during the club year. Mrs. Ernest Hoelsi and Miss Ingeborg Hanson had perfect papers.

Supt. R. R. Burns of the Grayling schools gave a very interesting talk on education and the teaching profession. He also brought out the effect of the new property tax law on the schools of Michigan, and the need for other means of financing the school budget. He made special reference to local school expenses, such as light, heat, teachers salaries, etc.

The last meeting of the club year will be held on Monday, April 10th, at the home of Mrs. George McCullough. This will be a social meeting, and as our guest we will have Mrs. Chandler of the Michigan Children's Aid society, who will speak to us.

UNEMPLOYMENT MEASURE PASSED

(By Congressman Roy O. Woodruff)

With but little real opposition, both Houses of Congress passed the Emergency Unemployment Relief measure last week, and another step in the program of reconstruction has been taken. Under the terms of this act at least 250,000 men will be enrolled under the supervision of the Department of Labor's Employment Service, aided by State employment services and other agencies, for work in the National Forests and other conservation projects. In the administration of the law it is contemplated that transportation will be furnished from the place of enrollment to the assembly camps which will be furnished by the War Department. This Department having equipment such as tents, camp kitchen equipment, clothing, shoes, etc., will see to it that the men are properly placed in self-sustaining units, and immediately thereafter, the U. S. Forest Service will take over the supervision and management of the new organization.

To be eligible for enrollment an applicant must show that he is a citizen of the United States and that he is unemployed. Inasmuch as there are so many more out of employment than can be accommodated in this work, enrollment will be allocated among the several states upon a ratio in accordance with the percentage of unemployed persons in each state.

The work to be done in the National Forests consists of building fences, airplane landing fields, roads and trails, telephone lines and lookout towers, preparing the land and planting seedlings, etc., but the men may be put to work along other lines as the supervisors may direct. The men will be furnished, in addition to transportation, with food, clothing, lodging, medical care, and will be paid a wage that will be established by the President. Also they will have the protection of the U. S. Employees Compensation Laws in case of injury while in the performance of their duties.

Some objections to the original provisions in the bill limiting the wage to $30 per month in addition to the other allowances mentioned was made in the House and Senate in behalf of organized labor on the ground that if the government should write into law a wage as low as $1 per day, it would demoralize the wage standards existing in industry and business. Objection was voiced also because of the nature of such work calling men away from their families to remote places, and also because to some it appeared to inaugurate a policy of placing upon the government the responsibility of furnishing employment directly to those who cannot find work elsewhere.

But, all these objections resolved themselves into nothingness in comparison with the urgent need that some action be taken by the only remaining agency with the resources and authority to do so. It is realized by every Member of Congress that this is figuratively only a "drop in the bucket" in the solving of our unemployment problem, but at least it is an effort to afford a chance to a large number of people now out of work to become self-sustaining. It relieves them of the humiliation of accepting public charity from the welfare agencies, besides affording outdoor employment under conditions that should contribute to the health of each individual enrolled. To those who have dependents, it will be required that they make allotments of a part or all of the pay for their support.

To finance this program of work in the National Forests, it is provided in the act that the unobligated monies from the public works program be diverted thereto, and that if additional sums are needed they shall be appropriated. This means that for the time being at least, the authorization of new post offices and other public buildings contemplated originally in the public works program, will be subordinated to the work of reforestation. For the same amount of money that would employ one man on public building for one year, at least six could be given employment in conservation work such as is contemplated in the National Forests, and this is the sort of practical economy that must be practiced from now on.

In all history, it seems, there has been no greater example of profligacy, waste and destruction of a great natural resource than has been the elimination of our forests without regard to the future. Michigan is an outstanding example of what has happened elsewhere in the country. Practically our whole state has been denuded of forests without anything done to replace them until the last few years. It requires fifty years to grow a tree available for lumber purposes. Notwithstanding the fact that other

SELECT EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The organization of Citizens and Railroad employees that was recently organized here and announced in our issue of last week, has completed the selection of an executive committee to carry on the purposes of the work.

The principles of the organization are for the purpose of endeavoring to bring about a more equitable condition between the railroads and the transport companies. Materials are being used extensively for building purposes, we are consuming our present forests five times as fast as they are being grown. For years I have advocated reforestation upon a large scale in order that coming generations may have the benefit of forest products. With the funds made available under this act many things can be done that should have been done in years gone by. In considering the benefits to be derived by the expenditure of this money, the benefits to the coming generations should not for a moment be lost sight of.

It has always been my firm belief that anything done by the government to conserve and perpetuate our forest resources is more than worth while. Not only is the wealth of our timber valuable in its manufactured state to all people, but the forests themselves constitute in their natural state the best protection that can be had against soil erosion and floods. They afford refuges for our wild life and solace and pleasure to the tourist from the crowded cities, and contribute to the prosperity of communities near which the forests are located.

So I say the adoption of this legislation in its many benefits, present and for the future, is one of the most constructive acts that has as yet been suggested in the present emergency. This illustrates the practical way in which President Roosevelt is asserting his leadership.

NEW GAS WELL IN MECOSTA COUNTY

A gas well, capable of producing 4,190,000 cubic feet of natural gas a day has opened up in Mecosta County and is expected to result in Central Michigan's fourth great gas field.

The "discovery" well, owned by Taggart Brothers of Big Rapids yielded gas at 1,481 feet. It is located between Big Rapids and Mecosta and is expected to be followed by other drillings in the immediate vicinity.

Taggart Brothers plan to continue drilling the "discovery" well in an attempt to find oil at a lower depth but are retaining the gas for future utilization.

The Taggart well opens up the fourth gas pool of any consequence in Michigan, the others now operating including those in Broomfield and Vernon Townships in Isabella County and at Clare in Clare County.

Gas discovered in Mecosta county was found in what is known as Michigan "stray sand." Studies previously made of the area by Dr. R. B. Newcombe, petroleum geologist of the Department of Conservation has led to the suggestion that the sub-surface structures in the vicinity where the Taggart well was drilled were favorable to exploration and possibly indicated the presence of gas. The studies were based largely on wells previously drilled near this vicinity where a favorable structure or anticlinal fold of major proportions west of the Bromfield "high" extends parallel to it in a northwest-southeast direction.

Should other wells drilled in the Mecosta field succeed in producing large quantities of gas, it would mean another large section of the state having easy access to a natural gas supply.

THERE'S A REASON

In every crowd that congregates these days we find the self-important chap lightly tapping his forehead and with grave attempt at wisdom, telling those present "That in Canada no banks ever fail." And as a general rule that is as far as his knowledge of banking goes.

For the sake of comparison let's take a look at the Canadian banking system. To begin with, every Canadian bank must have a capital of not less than $250,000 all paid up and backed dollar for dollar with gold. There are only ten chartered banks in the Dominion, each having many branches, the total being 4000.

What a mark such a system would have been for the anti-trust and anti-trust demagogues. The checks cashed at another bank of the same chain, even in an adjoining town, costs fifteen cents. The minimum fee for drafts is fifteen cents and the interest rates are not lower than twelve per cent. Any Michigan banker will tell you his bank could get along very nicely if permitted this additional revenue.

PARIS HATCHERY STURGEON ILL

"King," the big sturgeon at the Paris State Fish Hatchery is missing from his customary pond. "King," probably the biggest fish in captivity in Michigan, is ill and now under expert care.

The big fish, something like six feet long and weighing around 150 pounds is known to thousands of Michigan residents and visitors and for three years has lived in a small pond near the state highway. Recently he developed a fungus growth and has been transferred to a larger pond.

If "King" recovers from his present ailment, he will be returned to his old home.

The big fish was captured three years ago at Newaygo Dam on the Muskegon River.

Doing One's Best to the End

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois.

"Thompson is leaving you, I hear," I said to Jones, "and going into another line of work. How is he getting on?"

"I had known Thompson for years and he seemed to me a bright, energetic young fellow who ought to get somewhere."

"He's lost all interest in his work," Jones replied. "He knows he is not going to be with me longer than the end of the year, and he sees no reason for showing any initiative. He comes late pretty often, he does no more than he has to for he is not working for promotion, and he feels sure that no matter how poorly he does we won't fire him. It takes a pretty good man to do his best up to the end of a job."

It was Robert Louis Stevenson who, I believe, said that if he knew he was to die tomorrow, he would go on just the same writing his story, finishing his book, striving to do something better than he had ever before done. Even if the job had to be given up it was worth doing well to the end.

Saunders, who was entered in the two-mile race, could see before he had done a mile that he was outdistanced by half the fellows who were competing with him. Some of the men who were outdistanced dropped out before they had completed the distance and lay on the grass to watch the finish. Not so Saunders. He kept on to the end and sprinted his level best at the finish. He hadn't the ghost of a chance to win, but he was a sportsman who gave the best that was in him to the last second. Some day he'll win the race.

The last scholarship report showed that Collins was doing very poor work in his studies. He had not previously been an honor student, but he had at least done respectable work and I wondered what could be matter with him.

"I can't come back next semester," he explained. "Father thinks it isn't wise for me to finish my course, and so I didn't see any reason for working hard. If I flunk out it cuts me no ice; I'm not coming back anyway."

And he thought his reason a perfectly good one.

Origin Unknown

Petroleum is of unknown origin. When first found it was supposed to be a product of coal—the turpentine of ancient times—and was called coal oil. A later theory was that it was the oil of animals and fish of ancient times. Another is that it is a mineral chemical compound—but science so far has failed to determine just what it is.

News Review of Current Events the World Over

President Splits Farm Board and Combines Several Bureaus Into One Agency; Wins First Round With British on Debts.

WHAT the President terms the "farm credit administration" was created by executive order which, if it meets with congressional approval, is expected to become operative May 27.

The "farm credit administration" replaces the federal farm board, the federal farm loan board, and the farm credit activities that have been scattered through seven different government agencies.

The "administration" will be headed by Henry Morgenthau, Jr., with the title of governor, and an assistant, for the present at least, Paul Bestor, with the title of commissioner.

Governor Morgenthau said, after issuance of the order, that the activities of the government in granting loans to farmers and farm organizations will be fully co-ordinated. In the past, with the government making loans through the Department of Agriculture, the R. F. C., the farm board and other agencies, varying rates of interest were charged and different purposes and conditions were set up, and under the new regime, Governor Morgenthau said, unity of purpose and treatment will be observed strictly.

He also declared that all employees of the new credit administration will be placed under civil service instead of under a patronage system as exists in many of the bureaus at present.

The executive order issued by the President directed the abolishment of the farm stabilization activities of the farm board which have resulted in losses of three hundred million dollars, except that he provided they should be continued only to liquidate the left over holdings of the board. This consists of thirty million bushels of wheat and twenty-eight thousand bales of cotton.

In the message to congress accompanying the order President Roosevelt said his purpose was to "maintain and strengthen a sound and permanent system of co-operative agricultural credit subject to federal supervision and operated on the basis of providing the maximum of security to present prospective investors in bonds and debentures resting on farm mortgages or other agricultural securities—all for the purpose of meeting the credit needs of agriculture at minimum cost."

The consolidation of these various activities under one head is expected to result in an administrative saving of two million dollars a year.

THE efforts of European nations to cancel or greatly reduce the war debt owed to the United States are on, and it is said President Roosevelt has won the first skirmish to the extent of considering world economic conditions before any discussion of war debts.

As a result of Mr. Roosevelt's insistence it is reported the British government has backed down from the position announced by Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, when he said that Britain would not swap economic concessions for revision of the debt.

The British are now willing to discuss economic concessions before the debt question is taken up. By virtue of this sudden change of front on the part of the MacDonald ministry, the world economic conference is likely to be held in April or May instead of next summer or autumn, as the European powers were planning.

The British ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, has discussed with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, the questions to come before the economic conference before the debt question is considered.

The French are also willing to discuss economic questions before considering war debts. Following a White House conference between President Roosevelt and Mr. Jacques Stern, chairman of the finance committee of the French chamber of deputies, Mr. Stern said that he had not discussed war debts with the President; that their conversation had been confined to the economic conference which the deputy thought "it would be very important to hold as soon as possible."

Asked about the debt, he said "it would be very important for France to pay the December installment as a mark of respect to President Roosevelt." Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Hull have taken the position from the start that the war debts are secondary in importance to the removal of the tariff, embargo, quota, exchange, and other restrictions on international trade.

A preparatory commission named for the purpose of preparing an agenda for the economic conference has listed the following subjects for consideration:

"The original and present weight of debt and interest obligations."

"Price of primary commodities and price of manufactured goods, both wholesale and retail."

"The existing volume of production in different staple commodities entering in world trade."

"The willingness of creditors to make international loans and their unwillingness to receive payment in goods and services."

"The distribution in different countries of the available gold supplies of the world."

"The disharmony between the stable and fluctuating rates of exchange."

Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, of England, will preside at the economic conference and will name the date for its convening.

PROGRESS of the farm relief bill in the senate has been slow. Senatorial dignity would not permit the speeding up of the ponderous machinery of the upper house regardless of the plea of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace for speed and for the passage of the bill as originally written by the President and his advisers. There just had to be hearings on the bill, and everybody, for and against, must have a chance to talk, and they have talked.

At this writing it seems that "a" bill will eventually pass, but whether it will be the bill that passed the house, and is acceptable to the administration, or whether it will be so radically changed as to be unrecognizable by its proponents, or unacceptable at the White House, is for the future to reveal.

FARM relief in other directions moved along more rapidly. The proposal for refinancing farm mortgages has taken form and the proposition is for selling of farm mortgage bonds to the extent of from nine to ten billion dollars on which the government will guarantee the interest, but not the principal. It is expected the government's guarantee of interest will make the bonds marketable at a comparatively low interest rate.

Farm leaders have urged a government guarantee of the principal on such bond issue, but such a guarantee would make them a direct obligation on the government, and mean simply an increase in the national debt of nine or ten billion dollars. Guaranteeing the interest only means that should there be a complete default on the part of the farmers, which is never probable, the treasury would have from three hundred to four hundred million dollars to pay annually until the bonds had matured.

THERE is a growing belief in Washington that the budget will not be balanced during the next fiscal year beginning July 1, regardless of the economies made by cutting the pay of government employees, reorganization of bureaus and departments, and reductions in payments to veterans, amounting to an expected total of some seven hundred millions, and regardless of an added revenue from the tax on beer, estimated at about one hundred and fifty million.

The relief grant of five hundred millions provided for in a bill now before congress, and the two hundred millions for the reorganization plans, will alone offset the economies. It is probable that the more ambitious plans of the President will be financed through new bond issues; but there will be increased interest charges and a sinking fund to provide for which will run into hundreds of millions annually.

Along with these things tax yields are falling short of estimates because of the continued prostration of business.

FIVE hundred million dollars to be provided by the federal government and distributed as unemployment relief for the states is introduced in the senate by Senators Wagner of New York, Costigan of Colorado, and La Follette of Wisconsin.

The bill provides that the huge sum shall be given outright to such states as shall apply for aid, and places the responsibility for seeing that the money is given wisely in the hands of a "federal relief administrator."

This official would be appointed by the President, with the consent of the senate, and carry on his duties independently of any other department.

The Reconstruction Finance corporation is given authority, under the bill, to borrow the five hundred million dollars, but will have no powers beyond turning the money over to the relief administrator. Two days after the appointment of the relief executive, the Reconstruction Finance corporation would cease to have any control over the granting of loans to states or municipalities for relief purposes, and thus all of the government's relief financing would be under the one jurisdiction.

A NATION-WIDE boycott on all Jewish business and professional men in Germany has been clamped down by Chancellor Hitler's National Socialist party. The announcement states that it will last "until Jewish life in Germany is paralyzed." Hitler's government, while not officially countenancing the boycott, is not expected to intervene.

At Nazi headquarters it was said that the boycott "is a purely defensive measure solely directed against German Jewry as retaliation for the anti-German campaign in foreign countries."

All over Germany Jewish owned shops and department stores closed their doors and were picketed by storm troopers.

THE President's bill providing for the employment of 250,000 men for the purpose of reforestation and other work in government forest reserves and along the rivers, passed congress with some amendments made by the senate. One of these amendments removes the state quota restrictions on the sixty-eight million dollars remaining of the relief funds in the hands of the Reconstruction Finance corporation. This makes it possible for states that have borrowed up to the quota previously provided to continue to borrow until the sixty-eight million is exhausted.

In the house the bill was adopted without a roll call, but with the Republican members in opposition. This opposition was not directed at the bill but at the methods of ruling the house by the Democratic majority. It was the first of the administration bills that had not received non-partisan support in the passage through the house.

DIRECTOR of the Budget Lewis W. Douglas has completed the task of revising the payment to veterans under the terms of the economy bill giving the President dictatorial powers for such revision. This revision eliminates from the pension rolls all veterans with non-service disabilities, and reduces the payments to those with service disabilities by approximately 15 per cent, the same percentage of reduction as that made in the wages of government employees.

The economies that either have been, or are expected to be, effected cover the reduction of 15 per cent in the wages of all government employees made by the President; reduction in veterans' benefits and administration now made; reorganization of the departments and bureaus in the administrative branch of the government, for which the President has authority, and on which he is now working; postal service economies now being considered. When all have been completed the following savings will have been effected:

Veterans' benefits and administration $480,000,000
Reorganization of administrative branch of government, including abolition of functions 250,000,000
Reduction in the pay of government employees 125,000,000
Postal service economies 75,000,000

Total $930,000,000
Among the new expenditures that will offset these savings is the appropriation of five hundred million dollars as a gift to the states to be used for non-employment relief, and the reforestation plan of the President which congress has authorized, and which involves an expenditure of not less than two hundred million dollars.

MEXICAN Communists object to Josephus Daniels as American ambassador at Mexico City. Posters captioned "Out With Daniels" have appeared on walls in the capital. They call him "the murderer of Azuela and Uribe." These men were Mexicans who were killed in the fighting when United States forces landed at Vera Cruz in 1914. At that time Mr. Daniels was secretary of the navy.

UNDER authority granted him by congress the President has ordered a 15 per cent cut in the pay of all federal employees, effective April 1. The order affects the employees in all departments including the army and navy, Post Office department, and all others on the government pay rolls, a total of approximately 800,000.

The authority given by congress provided for such cut as reduced living expenses might warrant up to a total of 16 per cent. An investigation of living costs made by the Department of Labor showed a decrease from June 30 of last year to the present time of 21.7 per cent. On the strength of that report the President ordered the cut in pay to the limit of that allowed by the terms of the economy law. It is estimated the saving to the government will be approximately $125,000,000 annually.

Not All Forms of Law Procedure Are Alike

Under all forms of criminal jurisprudence based on Anglo-Saxon law, the burden is on the prosecution to prove its charge. American and British laws are based on this, with some local exceptions in Scotland and Canada. Most of continental Europe and Latin America have their systems on the old Roman law, which presumes a prisoner innocent until the prosecution has made out a substantial case against him and then presumes him guilty, until he has proved his innocence. Scottish legal procedure differs from the English in many ways. The sources of the old Scots law were the feudal system and the Roman law, the latter usually acquired in French universities and modified by French ideas. According to Henderson and Watt's "Scotland of Today," "The procedure reminds rather of France than of England." It goes on to describe how an accused person is questioned privately by the prosecutor before the sheriff and his answers are put into the form of a declaration, which he is called on to sign, and which is later used as evidence. Besides the two verdicts of "Guilty" and "Not Guilty," there is one of "Not Proven," which gives the prisoner the benefit of the doubt and acquits him unless further evidence justifies a reopening of the case.

Hawaii Liked Baker

When Newton D. Baker, secretary of war in the Wilson cabinet arrived in Hawaii he was given the warmest kind of welcome and was nearly smothered in leis, as this photograph shows. Mr. Baker, who was accompanied by his wife and daughter, conferred with officials of the Institute of Pacific Relations concerning the meeting of that body that is to take place in Honolulu, next summer. He is chairman of the American council of the institute.

Rookie Travels Far

The world's distance record for rookies traveling to major league spring training grounds is conceded to Ted Nohrigan, a pitcher who came to the St. Louis Cardinals' training camp in Bradenton, Fla., from Honolulu. He is a product of the University of Hawaii, is twenty-two, and a right-hander.

Styles for Little Miss

Although the conservative little miss might not go so far as Marlene Dietrich in masculine fashion, all of the smart children's ensembles for spring are in the strictly tailored mode. Guimpes, jumpers, shirt waists, both one-piece and two-piece dresses are simple and smartly tailored, says Carolyn T. Radnor Lewis in Child Life Magazine. The jumper dress as shown is a women for early spring. Later cotton or linen can be worn. The youngest edition of a "suit" also pictured above, consists of a sleeveless dress with inverted plait back and front, in a plain or print cotton, and coat with drop shoulders in a pastel woolen.

Origin of Gin, as in Cotton

The word "gin," as it applies to the cotton gin, is said to be a negro corruption of the word engine. Eli Whitney's invention of the gin in 1793 brought cotton to the fore because up to that time all seedling was hand work. A workman could separate only a pound of fiber from the seed in a day.

INSPIRATION

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Late Dean of Men,
University of Illinois

Few of us realize, I am sure, to what extent the faith and confidence of those who are betting us, who are depending upon our carrying on, are upon our actions. Inspiration of one sort or another is at the bottom of most success.

It was at a football game years ago when Illinois was playing Chicago, and Hersberger was captain of the University of Chicago team, and it was upon him and his leadership apparently that the success of Chicago depended, when the incident happened which illustrates my point. The game had hardly begun when the brilliant captain's ankle was broken and he was carried helpless to the sidelines. It was the most serious accident which could have happened. Without Hersberger the game seemed lost and the team went back into the scrimmage despondent and almost helpless. But all the time there was Hersberger lying on the sidelines and he became at once the inspiration of the crippled team. As they lined up for play some one called out, "Remember Hershey, fellows," and that was the slogan which throughout the game urged them on to victory. For Hersberger, crippled and out of the game as he was, was the inspiration which brought his team to victory.

Few of us work for ourselves alone. Behind us there is some one urging us on, putting faith in our accomplishments, believing that we will do something worthy of praise.

It was Felton's wife who was his inspiration. Naturally he was shy, unassuming, and kept himself in the background. It was she who brought him out, who recognized his strong points and urged him on to make the most of them. He was cleverest and brightest when she was sitting near. He pushed himself ahead because it pleased her to have him receive recognition. She really made a new man out of him. He followed her to the grave very quickly, for they had no children and when she was gone there seemed nothing to work for. His inspiration was gone.

WHAT OTHER EDITORS HAVE TO SAY

Frank Bryce in the Grand Lodge Independent.

"Just for fun," Frank, here's one answer: If Gov. Brucker had been shown a picture such as was unveiled to the eyes and ears of Gov. Comstock he would have done just the same as Gov. Comstock did. Ditto likewise if it had been President Hoover in President Roosevelt's boots. As for "supposing," suppose that Gov. Brucker had listened to some advice given him in regard to Michigan's banking situation? Yes sir, his attention was called to conditions that led up to the worst bank crash in 50 years, and then some.—George English in the Huron County Tribune.

CHILDREN ALL

When you were a boy you loved to build block houses. One day you piled the blocks higher than ever before and you were delighted for a moment. Then a breeze came in at the door and your block house tumbled down, and you cried over it. When you were a little older you gathered together some boards and built yourself a shack, got inside and closed the door. You looked up and saw the blue sky shining through a crack. You got another board and closed the opening. Inside again and you were completely shut in. It was great. But some bigger boys came and pushed the shack over. When you became a man you still struggled to build things and you still continue to lose them and make your life miserable over things. What does it all mean? Simply that we are just overgrown children and have yet to learn that the things most lasting and satisfying and most worth while are spiritual rather than material.—The Lapeer County Press.

REDUCTION COMES FIRST

We are absolutely opposed to the Glasner income tax bill proposed to raise money for the support of schools. No new tax should be levied in Michigan until the legislature does everything possible to reduce expenses. In this respect it has failed miserably. Pledged to a program of strict economy, the legislature has done little, if anything, except raise notary public license fees. A cost commission appointed by ex-Governor Brucker had outlined a definite program to save the state five million dollars per year for the next two years and introduced specific bills to put these tremendous economies into effect. What has happened to this program? So far it has been sidetracked. Only a few of the minor measures have been passed. The legislature has made no sustained effort to cut costs and the public should rise up in opposition to new levies until it does.—Hastings Banner.

BAD COMPANY

Over at the county jail there is a mere youngster, Stanley Bart, 19 years old, awaiting trial on a serious charge—that of attempting to rob a man while armed. Stanley confessed to Sheriff John Johannes that he had a good father and a good mother in Detroit who provided him with all of his daily needs, even though he had been unable to find employment. Then he further confessed that this had been his first crime, that he had mixed in with bad company and finally agreed to come up from Detroit to Standish to get money from a man unlawfully. He is repentant now; he realizes that he could have avoided this trouble had he followed the advice of his parents in the selection of his company. Its too late now and Stanley fully realizes his plight and is ready to "take his medicine," but his advice to other young boys is—watch your step in the picking out of your chums and don't follow advice you know is wrong. They'll get you in the long run.—Standish Independent.

THE U. OF M. CUT

A slash of $1,000,000 in the University of Michigan appropriation is impending. The slash sounds like a lot of money but after all it represents just about the sum which has been paid to the University by Ingham county in the past 10 years. Last year Ingham county, forced to drastic economy to balance its own budget, was assessed $1,055,775.69 for the University of Michigan.

Ingham county by means of a thorough investigation and strict supervision has been able to reduce its mothers pensions to about $95,000 a year. Mothers and their dependent children are denied luxuries and many of the things deemed necessities so that the budget can be kept below the $95,000 mark. And while we have been pinching pennies for mothers and children we have been free-handed with the University. While we have cut every corner to keep 270 mothers and their 700 dependent children clothed and fed on a budget of $95,000 we have not even looked askance at the amount of $1,055,775.69 flung carelessly to the University.

A tax cut of $1,000,000.00 seems like a lot of money but it probably is less than 10 per cent of the University revenues. Such a small shrinkage in these days is not worth mentioning.

What would have happened if Ingham county had been in Indiana or Ohio for the past 10 years? The revenues of the University would have been less by $1,000,000, just the amount of the proposed cut. We believe the University would have survived in some manner had Ingham county not paid $1,000,000 in the last 10 years. We believe the University can and should get along with less money, perhaps $1,000,000 less, perhaps $2,000,000 less.

Millions of dollars have been tied up in ornate and expensive buildings at the University. Perhaps students would have learned as much or even more had the buildings been kept to the plane of economy forced onto the taxpayers. The University has had too much money. That money is now spent.

A cut of $1,000,000 from an income estimated at between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 is in the same ratio as a cut from $20 to $18 a week. Thousands of Michigan residents have had to make much more drastic budget adjustments in the past few years. The University will have to do only what thousands of taxpayers have done.—Mason News.

GOVERNOR IS RIGHT

Tally for Governor Comstock. He has let it be known that he's not in favor of the schemes of Attorney General O'Brien to seize commercial industries from private hands and operate them under the control of the state. The proposal of Mr. O'Brien is one of the most radical ever made by a Michigan public official. Consider the state seizing the copper mines of Houghton and Ontonagon county and starting work in them when copper is a drug on the market and selling below the cost of the labor to mine and mill it! Surely Michigan has fallen on strange ways. Governor Comstock is to be commended for his stand.—Tom Conlin in the Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

DEPT. OF STATE

STATE NEWS BULLETIN

Despite efforts of state officials and the legislature, approximately 300,000 fewer Michigan automobiles had secured licenses on April 1, 1933 than on April 1, 1932.

Records of the department of state show that on March 28, 1932, a total of 798,262 motor vehicles had been given 1932 license plates. On March 28, 1933 a total of 416,680 vehicles had been given 1933 plates, and stickers good until August 1, 1933, had been issued for 33,104 vehicles.

During the last three days of March, most of the branch offices of the department reported an increased sale of the half-price permits for use with 1932 plates, but accurate statistics are not available. It is believed that many motorists have been awaiting another extension of time and will secure proper license plates during the first week of April.

The act of the legislature, allowing use of 1932 plates until August 1, 1933 when accompanied by a permit fastened to the windshield showing that one-half of the weight tax had been paid, was adopted late in February. An extension of time for 15 days was granted in order that the stickers might be printed and distributed. On March 25th, another extension until April 1 was granted by the Secretary of State at the request of the legislature, after innumerable citizens had informed officials that their funds were tied up in banks closed because of the state and national bank holidays.

It was thought that a large number of motorists would take advantage of the half-price permit but the number of sticker permits sold on March 28, was 28,989. This is far below expectations.

The Department of State has no part in the administration of present state prohibition laws, nor is it expected that the department will be given any powers or duties under liquor and beer control bills now under contemplation by the legislature, it was announced by Secretary of State Frank D. Fitzgerald.

This statement was made in answer to the flood of letters being sent to the department containing applications for beer licenses.

Good Training

Any new thing the youngster wants to do to help you, give him a chance to do it. It may cause you a lot more work in the end but it will either teach him how to do the job in the future or else he will learn how much work his parents go to, to do it for him. In either case it is good for him.—Grit.

WEST BRANCH HOLD FISHING FESTIVAL

Trout fishermen wending their way to the trout streams will be entertained at West Branch with a three day festival, April 29, 30 and May 1. A general committee of the West Branch Chamber of Commerce, headed by Henry W. Schultzy, has developed a well balanced program which will provide for every minute of the three day session.

Preparations are being made for the inclusion of many features which look to the instruction of fishermen along conservation of wild life, fire protection, and the scenic attractions of Ogemaw county.

Several nationally known fly and bait casting experts have been invited to join in the festivities and to stage demonstrations. Casting contests will be held for amateurs; prizes offered for the largest trout caught in Ogemaw County on May 1; the best all-around catch, and the fisherman coming the longest distance.

This is the second festival staged by West Branch. The 1932 event attracted a registration of approximately 600 fishermen and it is expected that over 2,000 will register during the 1933 celebration.

George R. Hogarth, director of conservation, has endorsed the project and is furnishing a greater portion of the material for the decoration of the festival headquarters.

West Branch plans to make the festival an annual affair and will adopt a policy of promoting trout stream improvement and fish planting and propagation, looking to the future welfare of the popular outdoor sport—fishing.

FREDERIC LOSES TWO OF ITS OLDEST RESIDENTS

James Patterson, one of Frederic's oldest and highly esteemed citizens passed away at his home Thursday morning, March 30th, at 12:15 o'clock. He appeared to have been in good health up to the death of his wife, Pheobe Patterson, which occurred March 24th. All was done that possibly could be done for him, but grief and shock of losing his companion seemed greater than he could bear and he gradually became weaker until death claimed him.

Mr. Patterson, who was 81 years of age, was born in Canada, and with his father came to Michigan at the age of 5 years and settled in Saginaw. He was united in marriage to Miss Pheobe Pray in 1872. They came to the village of Frederic in 1883 and had resided here until death called them. To the union nine children were born, seven girls and two boys, one boy dying in infancy.

There remain to mourn their loss Mrs. Laura Wallace, Mrs. Ed. Nichols, Mrs. Chas. Craven, Wilson Patterson, Mrs. Jas. Tobin, Miss Mearl Patterson, Mrs. R. J. Brennan, Mrs. Gilbert Cram. Five son-in-laws and a grandson of this beloved mother and father acted as pallbearers: Chas. Craven, Edward Nichols, R. J. Brennan, Jas. Tobin, Gilbert Cram and Earl Wallace.

Many beautiful floral pieces were received showing the esteem in which both Mr. and Mrs. Patterson were held.

Both services were held from the M. P. church, Rev. Browning officiating. Beautiful hymns were sung by Mrs. C. G. Clippert and Mrs. R. O. Milnes of Grayling.

Resides the host of relatives that remain to mourn this sad parting, the community also mourns with them.

M. S. C. INVESTIGATION PROVIDES LAUGHS

(By Roger Andrews)

Lansing, Mich., April 3.—The investigation into affairs at the Michigan Agricultural College, now in the news headlines, has developed a laugh for all except those who pay taxes. One of the high salaried professors has the world's record by possessing the only known sheepskin awarding him a degree as "honorary" horse doctor (nee veterinarian). A music teacher is reported to have given a student concert at 50 cents per and charged $750 for his services as soloist. One pupil desired harp instruction, says Senator McKenna, in charge of the gridiron look-see, and the college bought a harp for $450 and hired a specialist to come over from Grand Rapids once a week to give the solitary lesson. Dr. Kedzie, president emeritus of the college, remarked that the musical course became "a racket and a piece of graft." The newer generation of Michigan agriculturists should be able to play sweet music while cultivating the soil.

Raw sauerkraut is delicious when used in a salad with salmon or with grated, raw carrots and peanuts.

Promising Rookie

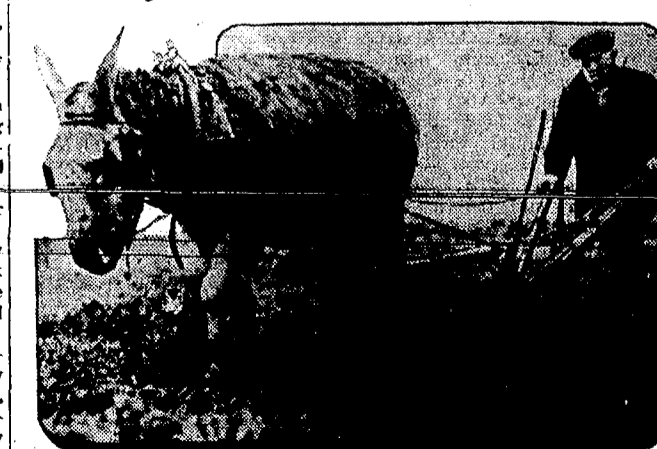

Among the best prospects to win a regular berth in the Cleveland Indians this season is Bill Knickerbocker, shown above as he takes a cut at the ball during batting practice. Knickerbocker, a shortstop, holds the world record of 69 doubles which he made while with the Toledo "Mudhens" last season. The youngster hopes to beat out Johnny Barnett for the regular shortstop job.

"Neddy" Remains Faithful Servant

W. J. Normap, a Stapleton (England) farmer, has solved the problem of hauling power on his holding by the employment of a particularly willing donkey which has, during his eight years of service, become a most efficient and useful servant and particularly suited to the job where a larger animal would be out of place. Photograph shows Neddy doing the donkey work on his master's farm.

FREDERIC AND DEWARD

(By Lola Parkinson)

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Horton had as their guests at Sunday dinner Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Barber and family and Mr. and Mrs. Francis McClellan and family.

Misses Eva Johnson and Molly Odell served hot dinner and supper at the Frederic Twp. election, profits used for the benefit of the Senior Class of '38 of the Frederic high school.

Elyda Johnson spent Saturday night with Clara Parkinson.

Glad to know that Bertha, Junior and Ray Pratt are able to be out again after having the mumps.

Walt Butts is also able to be out again after being ill with the mumps, and is making folks believe he had his face lifted.

Warmer weather and sunshine must be just around the corner as Little Robin Red Breast has made his appearance. Everyone of Frederic was glad to welcome him and is hoping he doesn't freeze his toes.

Strangers or fishermen might have by mistake taken the Main street of Frederic for a branch of the AuSable one day last week. But it was only water running down from the large hill back of Frederic as the spring rain melted the snow.

We are very sorry to learn that Mrs. Dutch Klont of Deward was unable to attend the spring election, because of her ill health.

Mrs. Dodge is very ill with the flu.

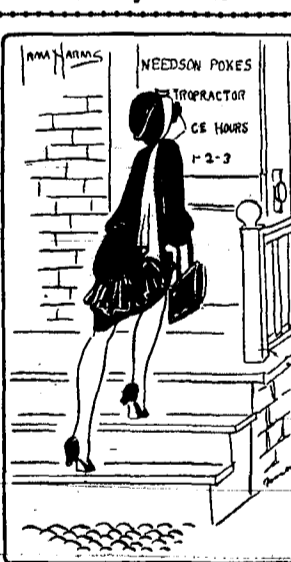

Mr. and Mrs. Ace Leng entertained Mr. Quick of Mt. Clemens to dinner last Wednesday.

The Missionary ladies had their meeting at the school house last week.

Watch for this space just one more week.

Words cannot express the deep sympathy that the friends of Frederic extend to the Patterson brothers and sisters in their great loss of their father who passed away only one week after their mother had passed away. Relatives outside of Frederic who attended both funerals were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Philip Pray, Port Huron; Wm. Pray, and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pray, West Branch; Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pray, Detroit; Lovina Philpotts, Pinconning; Chas. Drake and mother, Pinconning; Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Brennan, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Cram, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nichols, Bay City; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Quick, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bolen, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hoyt, Mt. Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Troop, Mt. Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Max Tobin, Johannesburg; Alvie Hunt and mother, Flint; Mr. and Mrs. Flagg, Flint.
